

STILL FOUND IN FARMER'S BARN

Liquor-Making Apparatus And 750
Gallons Of Mash Confiscated On Capp Miller Farm

RAID BY FEDERAL OFFICERS

Two Quart Bottles Full Saved For Evidence—Miller Not Found
By The Authorities

The largest still, or liquor-making apparatus seized in recent years was found late Thursday on the farm occupied by Capp Miller, R. F. D. 4, Rushville, in Walker township, and along with the still was found 15 barrels of mash, of 750 gallons of the white male whiskey in the "curing" stage.

The raid on the farm was conducted by two federal enforcement agents, and Chief of Police Blackburn of this city. A search warrant was first obtained in Justice Stech's court.

The still, with a capacity of 100 gallons, was found in the barn, buried from view, and also in the barn were the 15 barrels of brew. Miller was not at home when the raid was made, and he is still a fugitive.

The still, made of copper, complete with the large coil pipes, and even a copper stove pipe, was brought to the jail here late yesterday by the officers, and the 15 barrels of corn mash were emptied in the barn lot.

Two quart bottles of the mash were brought here as evidence, and will be analyzed by the state chemist, in order to ascertain the exact ingredients, and the percentage of alcohol that it contains.

The raid was conducted quietly, following a "tip" to the state forces that such a still existed on the Rush county farm. The two officers accompanied by a colored chauffeur arrived here shortly before three o'clock, and with the aid of the police chief they made their way to the place.

It is understood that the wife of the farm tenant was home at the time, and told the officers that she did not know where Mr. Miller had gone. The officers believed that he was either in Rushville or Shelbyville with a cargo of his liquor.

An affidavit charging him with unlawful possession of a still and with the illegal manufacture of corn liquor, will probably be filed against him, and it will be the first case of this kind to be docketed in the local court since the new law went into effect.

The penalty makes such a crime upon conviction a felony, punishable with a prison sentence.

ADVERTISES TRAINING CAMP

An army airplane, piloted by Lieut. J. E. Parker of Ft. Benjamin Harrison, circled around the city at noon today, and dropped a letter for Captain Will B. Brann of Company C, who also is county chairman for the Military Training Camp for Citizens.

The communication was from Charles M. Wells, assistant to Col. Reynolds of Ft. Harrison, and urged that Indiana should be put over the top on its quota to send men and young men to the training camp at Camp Knox.

Mr. Brann this morning received notice that the airplane would be here with the message, and the letter was dropped from the airplane at 12:12, according to the stamp made by the air pilot. It dropped to the roof of the Odd Fellows building.

The age limit of the training camp has been lowered to 16 years, according to the letter, and Rush county has room for three more applicants. The training camp includes free transportation in each direction, all expenses, including medical and dental attention, during the four weeks course from July 27 to August 25.

SEES NEED OF A MORAL REVIVAL

F. E. Schortemeier Addresses Luncheon of Indiana Republican Editorial Association

GOVERNOR GIVES ADDRESS

Points to Specific Economies Effectuated by Administration Especially to State Taxpayers

South Bend, Ind., June 8.—The need of a revival of moral prosperity to accompany the present material prosperity, which is the greatest in the history of the country, was pointed out by Frederick E. Schortemeier, secretary of the Republican state committee, in addressing the luncheon today of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association, served by the Studebaker Corporation at its automobile plant here.

Mr. Schortemeier's speech was in response to the welcome extended by A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation, to the scores of editors and their guests, who gathered here yesterday for the three-day summer outing of the editors' association. Mr. Schortemeier pointed out the lessons in politics to be learned from business, such as organization, but he added the great lesson was that success is due to truth, honesty and fair dealing.

"In so far as our party deals truthfully, honestly and fairly with the great American citizenship will we know honorable success," said Mr. Schortemeier. "New problems come, new issues arise, but still stand the ancient virtues, and in them alone is the hope of the Republic."

"We are enjoying with the Studebaker Corporation and the other commercial interests the material prosperity which we of the Republican faith believe is to be justly accredited in part to the administration of the principles of the Republican party in governmental affairs. We see prosperity upon every hand. We realize that it is here, and we are glad that it has come under Republican rule. We hope that it may continue, for in this material prosperity is found the comfort and happiness of all the American people."

In the opening speech of the assembly, Senator Watson last night said the differences in the party over the world court issue would be ironed out, but that he was unalterably opposed to entrance into the League of Nations.

He reiterated a statement made in Washington recently that there was no danger of a party split over the court question.

"I have every assurance that this

POLITICAL DOPE BUCKET STIRRED

Candidates And Near Candidates on Job at Meeting Indiana Democratic Editors

IN SESSION AT VINCENNES

Three Outstanding Possibilities For Governorship—Senator Heslin to Speak

(By United Press)

Vincennes, Ind., June 8.—Democratic editors and politicians gathered here today for the most important Democratic political meeting of the year, the annual session of the Democratic State Editorial Association.

The political dope bucket was being stirred as politicians arrived by train and automobile. Candidates and near candidates were right on the job.

Interest centered around the possible candidates for the nomination for governor and around the "Ralston for president" boom which a strong faction of the party in Indiana is anxious to start.

While Ralston has not yet taken public recognition of the whispered overtures of party workers, there are indications that he is not inclined to object to the presidential gossip.

There seem to be three outstanding possibilities in the governorship race, Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, Indianapolis, candidate in 1922; William O'Brien, of Lawrenceburg, former auditor of state; and John McFadden, Rockport.

There are a lot of others also being mentioned. Among them are Frederick VanNys, of Indianapolis; State Chairman Walter Chambers of Newcastle, Dan Simms of Lafayette, Senator Joseph Cravens of Madison and Senator Charles Batt of Terre Haute.

The program today includes visits to places of historic interest around "Old Vincennes" and a love feast tonight.

Senator Thomas Heslin of Alabama and Senator Ralston will make the principal addresses of the meeting tomorrow.

CREWS OF TWO SHIPS SAVED

Victims Of Disaster On Hidden
Rocks Rescued By Supply Ship

Seattle, Wash., June 8.—Crews of two ships, victims of a double disaster on hidden rocks, one hundred miles south of the Alaskan peninsula, were saved today by the government supply ship, Cayana.

The mine sweeper, Cardinal and the survey ship, Discoverer, were both wrecked when wind-lashed waves dashed over the vessels on rocky reefs. The Cardinal piled up on the rocks late yesterday and it was apparent that she might become a total loss. The Discoverer answered her calls for aid and met the same fate.

Early today radio advices received here said the Cayana removed the crews of the two vessels safely in small boats. A total of 135 men were aboard the ship.

Suit For Partition Filed Following
Admission Of Will Of Joseph Stiers
For Probate

A jury was hearing a damage suit today in the circuit court in which John Gibson is the plaintiff and the Pennsylvania railroad, defendant, and in which $350 judgment is demanded for a collision at First street more than a year ago, when an engine is alleged to have backed into Gibson's automobile.

Several witnesses were being examined, and the train crew was here as witnesses for the defense.

The plaintiff alleged that the train crew backed the locomotive without warning and operated it negligently while switching. Members of the crew, however on the witness stand, denied the allegations, and maintained that the engineer sounded the whistle, when the train started to back.

The case was expected to be completed late this afternoon, and given over to the jury for a verdict. The jury which was selected today to hear the case is composed of Fred

THIRTY TRAVEL THROUGH DESERT

Novitiates From Knightstown, Richmond, Arlington And Indianapolis
Make Pilgrimage

VISIT THE CITY OF NAHOR

Over Two Hundred Visitors Here
For Initiation Thursday Night
By Pilgrims Of Nahor

Thirty novitiates from Knightstown, Richmond, Arlington and Indianapolis were conducted over the mountains, across rivers and through the desert on the way to the City of Nahor, the birthplace of Rebekah, upon whose life and character the degree of Rebekah is founded, by the Pilgrims of Nahor at the Odd Fellows Temple here Thursday evening. Over two hundred were in attendance from surrounding cities. New paraphernalia was used in several instances, adding to the interest and making the work more impressive to the candidates.

Lively music was furnished by the Hojazzers of Nahor, and in appreciation of their work a collection was taken for purchasing new oriental instruments for the band. The electrical effects, under the direction of Jacob Weber and Knowlie Newhouse, were very impressive to the candidates and added very much to the enjoyment of the degree by the audience.

The decoration of the Knights of L'Emon was conferred on Jesse Gilson, Geo. W. Huber, Chas. Mattix and Isaac N. Stevens, they having contributed most generously to the fund for the band. Mr. Huber also received the classification of a Nimrod and was conducted to a seat among the other Nimrods when the roll call was held.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a picnic with a tentative date of July 12 in view. An announcement will be made later. This picnic will assume the proportions of a state affair and every section is expected to be represented.

Refreshments of strawberries, ice cream and cake was served at a late hour.

ORANGE MEMORIAL SERVICES

John H. Kiplinger Permitted To Practice In U. S. Supreme Court

John H. Kiplinger, who has resumed the practice of law in Rushville, after having been out of the practice for six years, has been admitted to practice in the United States supreme court, it became known today.

Mr. Kiplinger announced a few days ago that he was opening an office in the Abercrombie building, just north of the Rushville National bank building, in rooms formerly occupied by Will Inlow.

Mr. Kiplinger left the practice in 1917 to recruit a company of soldiers and after the armistice was signed served with the allied reparations commission, with offices at Weisbaden, Germany.

LOCAL COMMITTEE PRESSES CLAIMS

Intercedes For Rush County In Campaign To Be Designated
For School Experiment

AN AUDIENCE WITH BURRIS

Committee Representing Various Interests Sets Forth 16 Reasons
To Support Claims

A local committee interceding for Rush county in an effort to have the county designated as one in which an experiment in rural school supervision will be conducted, had an audience with Benjamin J. Burris, state superintendent of public instruction, at the state house in Indianapolis, Thursday, but the committee brought back no information as to what the success of its efforts might be.

The general education board of the Rockefeller Foundation, has selected Indiana for the experiment in rural school management, has donated a sum of money for the purpose and given the state superintendent of public instruction the authority to select two counties where the experiment will be conducted. It is already a foregone conclusion that Lagrange county will be one of the lucky counties and it is also known that Johnson county, a near neighbor of Rush's is regarded very favorably.

The committee represented the county board of education, the county superintendent of schools, county agricultural agent, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and other civic organizations interested in the project. In pressing its claims for the distinction, the committee pointed out that Rush county was entitled to consideration for the following reasons:

Because it is strictly a rural community.

Other counties competing are influenced, or dominated largely, by having colleges within their boundaries.

Because Rush county has a better system of consolidated schools than any other county under consideration.

Because this county has an unusually fine system of county and state highways which have made transportation rapid and easy at all seasons of the year thus lightening the task of supervision.

Because Rush county has a population of an unusually high degree of intelligence, thus making the work of instruction and supervision easier and more effective.

Because Rush county is the greatest producer of agricultural products, including pork, corn and wheat, of any county in Indiana, as shown by statistics of both state and national governments.

"We believe," the committee stated, "that the community which accomplishes the greatest production is the most fitting place in which to make an experiment in rural education."

Because Rush county averages very high in the quality of training of its teaching staff, all but two high school principals of the county now being engaged in taking special training.

Because Rush county has a very efficient and highly trained county agricultural agent ready to cooperate in any experiment undertaken in rural education.

SENDS A STRONG NOTE TO GERMANY

France Demands Sabotage End Before
Any Agreement on Reparations
Be Reached

ALLIES DIVIDED ON QUESTION

Premier Poincare Would Ignore
German Offer And Belgians and English Favor Answer

(By United Press)

Paris, June 8.—France sent to Germany today a strongly worded note demanding that resistance to the inter-allied military control commissions cease immediately.

Premier Poincare will communicate with the other allies regarding the advisability of replying to the latest German reparations offer, but in the meantime had made it clear to Germany that the latter's policy of sabotage and resistance must end before any agreement can be reached.

The interallied commissions will resume at once surveillance of German military organizations.

After the occupation of the Ruhr, Germany disclaimed responsibility for possible attacks upon the commissions.

The French cabinet will meet tomorrow to discuss the reparations situation.

Advisability of making a formal reply to the latest German reparations offer was discussed in interchanges of opinion between allied representatives.

Premier Poincare favors a policy of completely ignoring the Cuno proposal to mortgage the German empire to pay her allied war debt.

Belgian and British interests, however, believe some sort of reply should be made and Poincare may be pressed to their view by the desire to present a united allied front.

Poincare holds a reply will do little good as the Germans have entirely disregarded the first requisite laid down by France—abandonment of the policy of passive resistance against the Ruhr occupation.

On the other hand Italy is understood to join with the British and the Belgians in the belief that the newest German offer is at least more conciliatory than any previous proposals.

May Pave Way to Debt Parley

Washington, June 8.—Germany's latest reparations offer may pave the way for a suggestion by the allied governments that the United States join in a reparations and debt conference, it was believed today in high official quarters. This belief was based on two significant facts:

1—Germany's use of the words "the method of payment can only be agreed upon in direct conversation with these entitled to receive payment."

2—Word confidentially received that Poincare, French premier, will accept Germany reparations promises only when they are underwritten and guaranteed by the United States and Great Britain.

SEES NEED OF A MORAL REVIVAL

controversy will be adjusted by the adoption of a suitable reservations that will make clear the purpose of the country to refrain from becoming a member of the League of Nations," he said.

Watson declared the Republican party was opposed to government ownership of railroads and to the machinations of politicians who seek to use the railroads as a tool to increase their power.

Declaring that economy in administration had saved the taxpayers of Indiana $12,000,000, Governor McCray predicted a reduction in taxes.

"For the past two years the people of Indiana have received as much or more from their state government as have those of any state, and the cost of Indiana's functions have been about two-thirds that of similar costs in other state," he said.

Clyde A. Wall of Lagrange, the new chairman of the state committee, called for a united party in addressing the annual lovefeast last night. It was the first formal speech by Mr. Wall since being elected as leader of the party organization.

"Let us work together for the Republican cause," Chairman Wall said, to the editors, "and most certain victory will be ours, and verily believe that victory is ours."

Not only was the lovefeast the mecca for the newspaper publishers from all parts of the state, but also it brought together many present and prospective public officials, the latter looking forward to next year's campaign.

Additional facts, each pointing to specific economies effected by the state administration, the outstanding one being that $12,000,000 had been saved for Indiana taxpayers, were presented here last night by Gov. Warren T. McCray in addressing the lovefeast.

With a graphic chart, Gov. McCray showed for the two years he has been governor that Indiana's expenditures have been only two-thirds as much as those of the average state, and that on account of Indiana making 67 cents as far as $1 goes elsewhere that a net saving of $12,000,000 had been effected for the Hoosier taxpayers.

Assailing critics of state expenditures, Gov. McCray declared "it does not take much brains to find fault," adding that newspaper men, better than those of any other profession, know how easy it is to make "a story interesting if you let your imagination play." Political critics, the Governor remarked, are often careless with facts and figures. Gov. McCray's speech, in part, follows—

"What do we not owe to the men who make our newspapers? Successful administration of government, as far as the public mind is concerned, rests more with the information disseminated by the press than by any other agency. As spokesman for the State Administration, I bring to the attention the grateful acknowledgment not only from myself, but also from my associates in office, of the efforts each of you have made to spread the true facts about the state government. Let me assure you that your work has not passed unnoticed, and may I add that your comments, regardless of whether a 100 percent indorsement or a frank criticism from a differing point of view, have been a help to every one in the State Administration.

"I believe the best government is the best policies. It is our aim that by this policy we may best serve Indiana and the Republican party. Varying opinions prevail but that is only natural. We must judge by final results, not by mere details, but upon a broader basis than men or measures. Briefly, you can expect these results from this Administration—

"Rigid economy, safety and sanity practiced.

"Money spent only where necessary, and when shown to be required.

"Forward-looking, broad-minded views in all matters of public concern.

"When this administration ends the state will be on a sound financial basis, with practical and sensible economy having been practiced, with our state institutions in the best condition they have ever been in, with our schools and entire educational system vastly improved, and with a highway system that has been paid for stretching throughout Indiana.

"I want all of the people to have the plain, simple truth. I have nothing to conceal or camouflage. Practically everybody is more concerned in administration than in partisan campaign talks. Repeatedly I have called on everyone interested in conserving state resources to report any extravagance, but as yet have had not one specific report. If unhampered by facts, it is easy to complain. It does not take much brains to find fault. You men know how easily a newspaper story might be made more interesting if you let your imagination play. Political critics have that advantage over you. They are often careless with facts and figures.

"But in all talk about state expenditures, remember that taxes need not go up. On the contrary, it is reasonable to foresee reductions due to lower levies being fixed this year by city, county and township officials, who control about 90 cents of every tax dollar. The state controls only about ten cents, and it is living on that and will so continue, with the prospect of a cut in the levy next year. It would be but logical for state expenses today to be higher than in the past for the same reason that it costs all of you more to run your homes than formerly. But take out the cost of roads, and that's fair because actual building of state roads started only two years ago—and you find Indiana spends little more today for state expenditures than was spent ten years ago. Eliminate also that amount found necessary and imperative to be spent for permanent improvements at state institutions; and you will find that comparisons are most favorable."

Rheumatic pains would shoot through my back and shoulders and I could not sleep but an hour or two a night. In fact, I suffered both day and night and got so I could hardly drag myself to and from work.

"Tanlac put me right back on my feet. I'm always hungry now and enjoy my meals, for I don't have a particle of stomach trouble any more, sleep all night long and haven't a trace of rheumatism or any other ailment. Tanlac always gets my highest praise."

A New Standard of Mileage

Proved by Thousands of Motorists and Further Proved by Tommy Milton at Indianapolis

Tommy Milton brought the new standard of tire construction forcibly to the attention of American motorists when he flashed across the line at Indianapolis winner in a race that proved to be one of the most extreme tire tests on record. The first four to finish and eight of ten "in the money" were Firestone equipped. Not once in the entire 500 mile grind—was there a tire failure on any car equipped with Firestone Tires.

"Gum-Dipping did it"—is the car-owner's explanation of this tire triumph which gives emphasis to a series of mileage performances unparalleled in motoring history.

For years vulcanizers who know tires best have claimed that Firestone Cords were the sturdiest built, had the strongest carcass, and were the hardest to tear down of any tire they knew.

The marked superiority of Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords has been still more clearly and definitely established during the first six months of 1923.

Firestone has set a new standard—car-owners have proved it. As a result, three Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are sold today to every one a year ago.

If you are not now using Firestone Cords, test one—of a set—under the most difficult driving conditions you know. Let the mileage results decide your future buying.

May Change I. A. Scoring

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 8—Since the University of California succeeded in winning its third straight track and field championship, the officials of the intercollegiate association apparently have decided that something should be done about it.

The intercollegiate association, exclusively an eastern-ruled organization, in suggesting some changes in the program and the method of scoring for championship meets in the future, wants it understood that it is not seeking to place obstacles in the way for more California victories.

In considering the motives behind the suggested changes the east is entitled to its own opinion and so is the Pacific Coast.

If the Californians have a poor memory, they may hold the view that the motive is not one of discrimination against them, and if they hold an opinion to the contrary, they no doubt will be good enough sports to keep it to themselves.

Because the California team won the intercollegiate title three times in succession with a team composed almost entirely of field stars, it is not necessary that something should be done about it.

Some baseball teams win games on speed and others on power and it follows that a track team might just as well win with power in the field as with speed on the track.

From a strictly neutral standpoint however, it is logical that the system of scoring points should be changed to place a higher valuation on first place.

The British system of scoring only one point in each event for the winner works out acceptably in dual meets where one team can beat another five events to four events or the like, but it cannot be applied to meets in which a score or more teams are competing. This system was tried out for fourteen years by the intercollegiate association and it was finally dropped as unsatisfactory.

The present system of scoring five points for first place, four for second, three for third, two for fourth and one for fifth.

Realizing that first place ought to be worth winning, it might be better to award seven points for first place, five for second, three for third and so on.

Shelby, Until Few Days Ago Widest Open Town, Takes Count From Law

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)
Shelby, Mont., June 8—When No. 1, the big train from the east pulled in at sundown last evening and dumped a shipment of tender-feet on the platform of the new yellow pine railroad station, the bad news was ready.

"Better go see 'em ride some bad hosses tonight, strangers," came from a straw chewing cow puncher idly holding up the building. "The old town's done closed up."

An equally idle group in dusty chaps and a few Blackfeet squatted nearby echoed the sentiments.

The news of the day was true. Shelby, a few days ago the widest open town of the Great Northwest has taken the count from the law.

If the long faces of the station loungers were not sufficient proof, the strains of a hymn, floating up from a dirty, narrow street where a group of camp singers gathered was sufficient to show that some one had taken the wild and woolly out of the neighborhood.

From the third story of a brand new building a few rods down the main street came the moan of a saxophone a little later in the evening, and the pan-pan of a piano and the ping-ping of a guitar floated from the "King Tut" dance hall, the only one doing business. A few dusty punchers with alkali-caked boots did their ideal of a toddle with some rather nice looking dance hall girls, but that was all. And everything closed up at 9 o'clock!

"A week ago they didn't get going good until after midnight," a native announced. "The law, it seems stepped in and stopped the excitement just as it was getting under way."

"Them rounders did it," a native bartender, dispensing near-beer in a mirrored cafe, moaned. "A lot of squatters came in and started the wheel going and the cards a-shufflin' and they didn't want to let the boys go to bed. Now, we all got to go to bed."

But, if it lacks the liquid veneer and high polish of frontier days, Shelby is a revelation of something new, in these days when we're beginning to think there isn't any such thing.

On both sides of the Main street of the town extend buildings that have been erected in as brief a time as ten days. Concessions, boarding

EXTENDED TO OTHER STATES

Widow Of Man Killed in Holdup Fails To Identify Slayer

Chicago, June 8.—The search for a girl with a "Mona Lisa smile and blue eyes" wanted as the slayer of Richard C. Tesmer, was extended to several surrounding states today.

Mrs. Tesmer who saw her husband coldly shot down during a holdup at the Tesmer home, failed to identify a dozen or more underworld women and gun-women arrested as suspects, and police believe the slayeress has fled to the city.

The widow declares that she will know the girl wanted by her smile and eyes. The murderess laughed as she shot Tesmer. Drug dens of the South Side were invaded by searchers today. They believed that the girl may have been nervously pulled the trigger by drug stimulants and that the smile was the fixed grin of a "dope" fiend.

WAS INDIANAPOLIS WOMAN

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 8.—The body of a young woman, found Monday in Niagara river at the foot of the falls has been positively identified as that of Sadie McGroarty of Indianapolis, it was announced today. Miss McGroarty, who has been missing from a Buffalo hotel since May 6, was identified by Hubert S. Riley and M. L. Jefferson, both brothers-in-law of the dead girl.

Evansville.—Two employees of the Evansville Pure-Milk plant were severely burned when a can of ether exploded in the chemical laboratory.

Following closely upon the probate of the will of the late Joseph Stiers, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident last Saturday, a law suit has been filed by Fannie R. Logan, a daughter, against John K. Stiers and his wife, Maud Stiers, the complaint being for partition and sale of real estate, involving the residence of the deceased, 420 North Main street.

By the terms of the will, the estate is left to the three children, Mrs. Logan, John K. Stiers, and James Stiers, who followed his father in death a few hours. The two surviving children are given $1,000 in cash, and the two children of Mrs. Logan share equally in the one-third of the remainder of the estate, in the place of the daughter, who is said to be financially supported by her husband, and the deceased in his will remarks that he did not desire to show more affection for one than the other.

When the will was probated, the son, John K. Stiers, was appointed executor at the request of the deceased in his will, and bond in the amount of $50,000 was provided.

Charlotte A. Deem is plaintiff in a suit against Ira S. Deem, et al., in which the action is a petition for partition of a farm.

The snit of Lonie Souder against Ella Siler is scheduled for Monday. It is a complaint for partition of real estate and to quiet the title. The case will require a jury, and an extra panel of 15 has been drawn, and also an additional 10 has been drawn to fill the regular panel.

SPEND MUCH TIME IN RILEY CAMPAIGN

Active Organization Work Is Going Forward in Many Counties Throughout The State

MANY ARE ON "HONOR ROLL"

Tablets To Be Placed In Hospital In Recognition Of Efforts Of Various City Residents

Indianapolis, Ind., June 8. — Thousands of volunteer workers in all parts of Indiana are devoting much of their time and energies to the movement for the erection of the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children; the $2,000,000 children's hospital—memorial to the celebrated Hoosier poet, it was announced at the state headquarters here today.

With more than $725,000 already subscribed by Indianapolis donors, active organization work is going forward in many counties throughout the state in the interest of the campaign. Nearly every county in the Third district has conducted a campaign while the work is also getting under way in some counties of the Sixth, Eighth, Ninth and other districts of the state.

Many clubs, societies and organizations are on the "Honor Roll" or organizations that are raising special memorial funds for the hospital which will permit them to place memorial tablets, suitably inscribed, within the completed institution. The fact that all pledges to the fund are payable over a period of four years, one-fourth of the total pledged payable each year, has enabled many clubs and organizations of even limited membership to subscribe large sums.

Tablets also will be placed in the hospitals in recognition of the efforts of residents of various towns and cities of the state in behalf of the movement. Full information regarding the memorial plan may be obtained from local committees or the state headquarters, 1503 National bank building.

Construction work on the first $500,000 unit of the Riley Hospital is now well under way and before many more months Indiana's sick and crippled indigent children will be receiving treatment that they cannot now obtain because Indiana has no institution especially for the care and treatment of sick and crippled children.

Many of Indiana's most prominent men and women have characterized the Riley Hospital as "Indiana's worthiest movement," and so saying have given large sums.

THE HOME GARDEN

CORN CULTIVATION

With the first plantings of early corn, Golden Bantam or some of the extra-early types either in the ground or showing through the soil, it is time to be getting in the later crops, the bigger heavier-cared sorts such as Evergreen or Country Gentleman, which are standard types.

While the early corn, which is usually dwarf growing, may well be planted in rows, the later types with their heavier stalks should be grown in hills. Corn despite its heavy root system, is a shallow-rooting plant, making the least depth of any of the garden crops. Therefore heavy fertilizing of the surface soil is advisable with commercial fertilizers as well as spading in liberal quantities of stable manure whenever available.

The hills should be two feet apart in rows three to four feet apart and the cornpatch should always be a square or as nearly so as the garden will permit. The square planting will give fuller ears because the corn depends upon the wind to blow the pollen from the tassels upon the silks, without which there will be no kernel formed, each individual silk representing one kernel on the cob. There should be two or three late plantings of corn because the late plantings are least likely to attacks of the corn worm, a pest that, formerly almost entirely confined to the South, during the last few seasons has become a nuisance in the North and many fine ears are ruined by this disgusting "worm."

Corn, more than any other garden vegetable, needs steady cultivation almost up to the time of bearing, but this cultivation should be shallow—no chopping deep with the hoe earth and help support the plant, as this is likely to injure the shallow but wide-spreading root system. It also needs hilling up to give the auxiliary roots which spring from the lower joints a chance to lodge in the soil. The earliest corn crops are usually all in by May 15. Later plantings should be made to carry the crop along—smaller plantings and more of them are the best motto for the small garden, using the space of the earliest vegetables for a few hills of late corn.

CHARGE YOUNG MATRON WITH SECOND MURDER

Mrs. Mary Creighton, Waiting Trial on Killing Brother, Charged With Poisoning Mother-in-Law

TO GO ON TRIAL JUNE 18

Newark, N. J., June 7—A second murder indictment has been returned against Mrs. Mary Creighton, pretty young Newark matron, who is already waiting trial on a charge of poisoning her brother, Charles Raymond Avery.

The new indictment alleges that she also poisoned her mother-in-law. Chemists are now analyzing the stomach of her father-in-law, who died two years ago.

Mrs. Creighton, who became a mother for the second time just after her arrest, is scheduled to go to trial June 18 on the charge of killing her brother. Her husband, John, is charged with the same offense and will go to trial with her.

The Creighton case appears likely to develop into one of the most sensational on record. Mrs. Creighton is accused of having slowly fed arsenic to her brother in pudding, so that she and her husband could collect his insurance. Attention of the authorities was called to her by anonymous letters.

'MORALLY INDEFENSIBLE'

Brand Placed Upon Twelve Hour Day by Church Organizations

New York, June 7—"Morally indefensible" is the brand placed upon the 12 hour day, in a report made public today by church organizations representing 50,000,000 Catholics, Jews and Protestants.

The commission on the church and social service of the federal council of churches, the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Council and the social justice commission of the central conference of the American rabbis, collaborated in preparing the report.

It takes the form of a reply to Judge Ebert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Corporation, who in an address at the American Iron and Steel Institute announced that the 12 hour day would be retained in the steel industry.

Gary's announcement, the churches said, "shatters public confidence and advances an unworthy and untenable argument."

Obituary

Pluma May Hurst, daughter of James E. and Mary A. Hurst was born in Homer, Rush County, May 6th, 1881 and died May 30th, 1923 aged 42 years and 24 days.

On June 13, 1901, she was married to James Arnold. To this union three children were born, Nelda, Ruth and Fred.

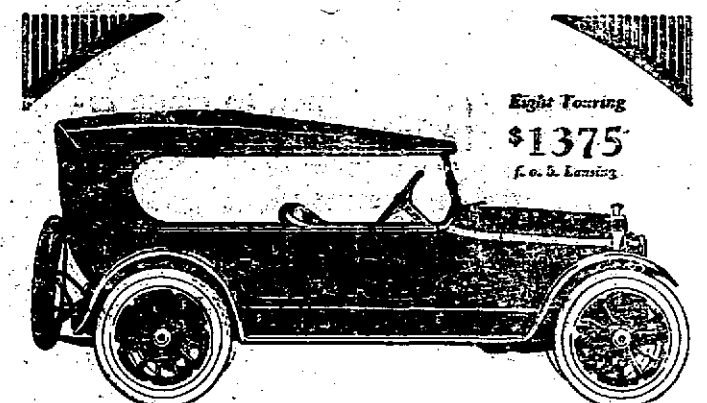

Besides her husband and children, she leaves her father and mother, five brothers, two sisters and a host of other relatives and friends.

Sister Arnold was a member of the Homer Baptist Church and to her death was a consistent Christian woman. She was a devoted wife and mother and no task was too hard or distance too long for her to go to help those who needed her. In her death the community has lost one of its good citizens.

Weep not that her toils are over, Weep not that her race is won, God grant we may rest as calmly, When our work, like her's, is done. 'Til then we yield with gladness, Our mother to Him to keep, And rejoice in sweet assurance, He giveth his loved one sleep.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and the beautiful floral offering given during our bereavement. Also the Rev. Brown for his sympathetic words, The undertaker and singers, Russell G. Moor and Mother.

Some things you should know about your heart

THE first thing a physician examines, when summoned, is the heart pulse. A normal heart will beat one hundred and three thousand times each day. You depend on it to beat every second of your life. You realize the heart should not have to overwork constantly to throw off blood impurities. It is impurities which increase the heart beat. More red-cells mean cleaner, purer, richer blood. They mean nerve-power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. This means freedom from pimples, from the moon that shines over familiar scenes—is exemplified in the novel which G. B. Lancaester wrote, "The Alta Stairs," and the motion picture version of it which was produced at Universal City.

The film comes to the Mystic Theatre today with Frank Mayo in the starring role and a notable cast in support.

Louise Lorraine and Dagmar Godowsky have the chief feminine roles, which Nick De Ruiz, Larence Hughes, J. J. Lanoe, Harry De Vere, Hugh Thompson and Boris Karloff have other supporting parts.

Lambert Hillyer, associated with Bill Hart for many years, directed. George Randolph Chester of "Wallingford" fame prepared the scenario.

Two Days At Princess

The character of Gale Brenon, portrayed by Dorothy Dalton as the star in the Paramount picture, "Fog Bound," which opens a two day's run at the Princess Theatre today, is one most unique in motion pictures.

Gale is the daughter of a revenue officer, living with her father on a Florida orange plantation. Next door lives Roger Wainright, a wealthy New York man, played by David Powell, who has bought this neighboring plantation for the purpose of being near Gale, who he loves. Things progress more or less smoothly between the two until after a wild night spent at a nearby Inn, Wainright finds himself a fugitive, accused of the murder of Gale's father, who had conducted a raid on the resort that evening.

But Gale believes in Roger, who asserts his innocence of the crime. She aids him to escape, but later when she learns the facts, she gives chase and finds him in his home. Officers of the law are close behind, and the girl has to do some quick thinking. It is a case of being loyal to her dead father or protecting the man she loves. Choosing the latter, Gale determines to shield her sweetheart. With the arrival of the officers comes the climax of the production—a climax that has much to do with making "Fog Bound" a picture different from anything you have yet seen.

This is an Irvin Willat production, including in the cast of supporting players Martha Mansfield, Maurice Costello and other prominent artists.

MORE MARRIAGES FAIL

Warsaw, June 8. —Matrimonial failures in Kosciuszko county have increased at a much more rapid rate than the proportionate population increase, according to records compiled by R. H. Butler, county clerk. In 1922 a total of 64 divorce suits were brought and 44 divorces were granted. This record probably will be surpassed in 1923.

Report States That There Is More Money In Piracy Than In The Bootlegging Game

By CHAS. McCANN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

London, June 8—Volunteers from all parts of England's under-world are flocking to the skull-and-crossbones of the pirate fleet.

These pirates prey on the rum runners that are found along the U. S. Atlantic coast. The pirates are so strong that it is making rum-running almost as bad as being honest.

Reports here are that the liquor pirates now operating off Long Island Sound are mainly from British ports—the stock that in other days manned the buccannering ships which took toll from the world's merchantmen.

And there are other reports that the "merchantmen"—the bootleggers—are doing what their forerunners did—signing on crews who can fight and making it worth their while to meet machine-gun with machine-gun.

It is declared here that though the first rum pirates operated from United States, their existence was due to an ambitious plan formed in London to sell bootleg liquor in the United States without going to the trouble of taking it all the way across the Atlantic—or paying for it.

The pirate fleet is declared to be well organized with the usual mysterious "men higher up" and a firm if unfeeling intention of making a dishonest living from the "honest" rumrunners, as their trained ancestors did from honest merchantmen.

The organizing genius of the pirate fleet operating from England and controlling most of those operating from the States—there are a few amateurs—is believed to be the former chief steward of an Atlantic liner.

It is the safest form of piracy even known. The ships that engagement can obtain clearance papers in the ordinary ways as fishermen or tramps. They prey on an illegal traffic. It does the bootleggers no good to "sneak"—even when they have the chance, for if they put up a fight the odds are against them. A complaint to United States authorities that a cargo of illicit whiskey had been stolen would do them no good, even if it did them no harm.

The bootlegging game has grown to large proportions here. There is no way British authorities can prevent ships from taking abroad perfectly legal cargoes of spirits.

Any day in the cafes and restaurants of the West End of London there may be seen Americans prosperous and idle, who are engaged in the traffic. There are others idle but not prosperous, who have come over here on a "shoestring," to sell their knowledge of the game to speculative Britishers.

Those who come over here with the money buy stocks of whiskey and gin themselves. The others raise the money from gamblers or book-makers willing to take a chance. In any event the "goods" are seen safe on board the ship that is to take them to the States—a schooner or a trawler or an old tramp steamer.

Then comes the anxious part. The monied agents sit around buying drinks and the unmonied ones just drinking them, while away the fortnight or month or two or three that may elapse before a carefully worded cablegram comes informing them that the "goods" have arrived at an American port, or have been sold at sea.

It means a profit of from $10,000 to $350,000 to be split up among those who financed the trip and those who organized it.

It used to work almost too easily. Occasionally a ship would get careless and would be picked by revenue men and there would be no cablegram.

But now there are many disappointments. It was not until recently that the real reason was found—pirates.

It began to leak out that there was a new variation of the double cross at work, and that there was a three-mile limit to honor among thieves, as well as to the activities of revenue men.

It was found that more and more bootless bootleggers were starting

JEWETT SIX PAIGE BUILT

Mother—"Dear me, I wonder if it will be raining at the lake today?"
Father—"Never mind, dear, we can put up the windows in a jiffy."
Frank—"Yes, and we are sure to get through with a Jewett."

This Year-Round Jewett Pleases All the Family Comfort That Defies Weather—Performance To Be Proud Of

Jewett Sedan is breezy and cool on hot days. All side windows lower, as illustrated. You enjoy all the "openness" of a touring car. In the dusty stretch or sudden storm, raise the windows and you are just as snug and clean as at home. Lock the doors and luggage is safe.

When Jack Frost comes, this Jewett Sedan is doubly prized by all the family. With windows closed tight—they do close tight—you are comfortable on the bitterest days. You will go out often, keep in closer touch with your friends, really use your car.

But Jewett Sedan gives more than weather comfort. With the longest springs of any car its size—and costly, deep seat cushions—it defies rough roads. Its rugged construction—Jewett is 200 pounds heavier than comparable cars—gives big car riding ease. It is finished, fitted and built to please and endure. Slam the doors. The sound bespeaks substantial worth.

Jewett Sedan is known as "the closed car with open car performance," due to the spirit of its 50-horsepower motor. Pass any car on any hill. Jewett Touring cars accelerate from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds in high gear. The Sedan does nearly the same. Drive it from 2 to 60 miles an hour on high. You rarely change gears. When you do, it means a bare 3-inch movement of the lever. Do it fast or slowly—there's never a "miss" nor a "clash." Women prize the Jewett for its easy handling.

Jewett's mechanism in every particular, stays good. Jewett is the only Sedan around $1500 made by a builder of finest quality cars. Paige-Timken axles front and rear. Paige-type clutch and transmission. Paige-built motor. Sturdy 6-inch frame. It is an economical car for long, hard, satisfactory service—a wonderful six at the price of a four. Arrange for a family demonstration in this year-round Jewett Sedan.

out—strong ships, large crews, but no cargo aboard.

Bootleggers need small crews of honest seamen for their work, who can be depended upon not to murder the skipper and sail off with the proceeds and who will be content with a modest "split."

The new crews were made up of ticketless mates, berthless and unberthable seamen from dockland "pups," and thugs and men from the slums and tenderloins of the great ports.

They are the ones who form the crews of the pirate fleet. They join by invitation and the best of them, after their integrity as dependable pirates has been established, may be assigned to join up on selected bootleg ships and at the proper time, drop a flare overboard as a signal in case a waiting pirate ship fails to find them.

There is even more money in piracy than in bootlegging. All the capital required is for the ship and the crew and the fuel and food for the first trip. There is only the risk that the crew will go Bolshevik after a haul.

All this means huge losses to the men who put up the money for the "legitimate" bootlegging trade. It means being broke in a strange country for the "shoestring" men and it means also being suspended of having put over something on the financiers.

Some of the shoestring men themselves, figuring that with the blame they may as well have what should go with it.

They find it easy to find a privateer to join and members of pirate crews are said to be obtaining $1,000 a trip and all expenses, with a bonus for a good catch.

But the bootleggers are planning means to restore the game to its former simplicity. Some of them have begun to operate from Japan—Atlantic coast.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By Stanley

trans-shipping liquor at a Japanese port to rum-runners which make for the Pacific coast. The others are preparing to fight back.

Just as some of the bootlegging crews have turned pirate, some of the pirates are beginning to reform—to form the nucleus of a bootleggers' Fascist.

The game is too profitable for the promoters to permit it to be broken up. They can afford to ship big crews and to raise the pay, and there is a prospect that within the next two or three months stories may be heard of old fashioned pirate raids on the North Atlantic coast.
